ParisbyParis.com

While ParisByParis will always strive to conduct a safe and incident free trip, we will not be held liable for any member's personal safety or personal belongings, etc. Events and incidents that are beyond the control of ParisByParis are as such, but not limited to, accidents or disruptions in air travel, accidents or disruptions of land transportation both in the United States and in France, strikes, civil unrests, acts of God, and a member's personal accident and/or illness during any portion of the tour. A list of medical facilities in Paris will be available upon request, but ParisByParis assumes no responsibility for such treatments or expenses. Each member is solely responsible for their personal safety, medical requirements and insurance.

ParisByParis is responsible for the details and arrangements of each tour as outlined in the itinerary of each tour. The owners of our hotels, the operators of our ground transportation and the airlines are all private contractors and not affiliated in any way with ParisByParis. Any losses sustained while using their services, such as injury, sickness, theft or damage to personal property is not the responsibility of ParisByParis.

Each tour member will be required to hold a valid Passport. Each member is required to insure that their passport is valid, current and in effect during the entire tour.

The contract that each tour member makes with his or her individual air carrier is solely the responsibility of that member. Any delays, cancellations, fare changes or penalties are a matter between that member and their carrier. ParisByParis assumes no responsibility for such.

Any additional expenses that a member incurs during any portion of the trip, including additional fees for museums, meals, shopping, phone calls, tips, internet use, transportation and communication charges for personal outings, etc. are once again solely the responsibility of that tour member. Any concerns in regard to these charges are also the responsibility of each member.
